

Our processing of your personal information – Third party claimant

If you have made a claim against an individual for whom we have placed insurance cover, this section will be applicable to you and will provide key information about how we use your personal information.

What personal information will we collect?

- Your name and title, address, telephone numbers and email addresses, date of birth and gender.
- Identity documents such as passport, driving licence and national insurance number.
- Any information which is related to your claim which could include:
 - your job title and employment if relevant;
 - details about the incident; and
 - photographic evidence.
- Information which is available publically such as internet search engines and social media where we need to investigate fraudulent claims.

What special categories of personal information will we collect?

- Information about your physical and mental health if relevant to the claim you are making.
- Information about any criminal offences you have been convicted for and any related information including about any offences or alleged offences you have committed or any court sentences which you are subject to.
- We may also collect information because it is relevant to your claim, which reveals or is likely to reveal your race or ethnicity, religious or philosophical beliefs; political opinions; trade union membership; or data concerning your sex life or sexual orientation. For example, if we arrange Life Insurance for you we may need to collect information regarding your race or ethnicity on behalf of potential underwriters.

How will we collect your personal information?

Directly from you.

We will also collect your personal information from:

- The policyholder who we have placed insurance cover.
- Third parties involved in the insurance and claim process such as insurers, third party claimants, defendants, witnesses and our own business partners.
- Third parties involved in the claim process such as claims handlers, medical experts and medical screening service providers, investigators and loss adjusters lawyers or the Crown Prosecution Service.
- Third parties who provide sanctions checking services.
- Insurance industry bodies.

- Other companies in the Ecclesiastical Group.
- Public sources such as court judgments, insolvency registers, internet search engines, social media
- The Financial Conduct Authority who are our regulators.

What will we use your personal information for?

We use your information in a number of different ways, depending on your particular circumstances. For every use, we must be able to demonstrate that there is a "legal ground" to do so. When using your "personal information", we will rely on the "legal grounds" set out below:

- We have a legal or regulatory obligation to use your personal information. For example, our regulators require us to maintain records of all dealings with you and to comply with our regulatory reporting requirements we may need to send your personal information to our regulators.
- We have a business need to use your personal information. Such needs will include investigating claims, keeping business and accounting records, maintaining management information, statistical analysis, developing and testing our systems, analysing our business and improving the services we offer, carrying out strategic reviews of our business models and will cover all activities which are needed to carry out everyday business activities. When relying on this legal ground, we are under a duty to assess your rights and to ensure that we do not use your information unless we can demonstrate a legitimate business need.

When we use your "special categories of personal information" (such as information about your health, religion or criminal offences), we need to have an additional "legal ground". When using your "special categories of personal information", we will rely on the "legal grounds" set out below:

- We have an insurance purpose to use your special categories of personal information such as assisting with claims.
- We need to use your special categories of personal information to establish, exercise or defend legal rights. This will be applicable where we are involved in legal proceedings, either against us or where we want to instigate them ourselves.
- It is in the substantial public interest to comply with regulatory requirements relating to unlawful acts and dishonesty – such as carrying out fraud, credit and anti-money laundering checks.
- It is in the substantial public interest to prevent or detect unlawful acts and the processing of special categories of personal information is necessary for the purposes of prevention or detection of an unlawful act, for example where we suspect fraud.
- You have given your consent.
